

ISDA Teams Up with Imperial College Business School For Executive Education

NEW YORK, September 21, 2022 – The International Swaps and Derivatives Association, Inc. (ISDA) has joined forces with Imperial College Business School to deliver targeted executive education programs to ISDA members.

The programs are designed to help executives at all levels develop new expertise and leadership skills in topics such as risk management, digital transformation and sustainability, and are led by Imperial's faculty of academics and senior industry practitioners. Members can choose to learn virtually or at Imperial's campus in London.

"We're delighted to announce this collaboration with Imperial College Business School. Derivatives markets are changing rapidly, and use of new technologies and the move towards net zero are transforming how market participants operate. These targeted executive education programs will equip attendees with the skills and expertise to be at the leading edge of this change, enabling them to help their organizations navigate the evolving landscape safely and efficiently," said Scott O'Malia, ISDA's Chief Executive.

"We are incredibly excited to be working with ISDA to continue to attract the brightest minds from around the globe to our executive education programs. Through this collaboration, ISDA members will have the opportunity to apply the expertise of some of the world's brightest minds to their work challenges and earn a certificate from Europe's only university at the intersection of science, technology and business. We look forward to welcoming ISDA members to the Imperial community," said David Brown, Director of Executive Education at Imperial College Business School.

ISDA will start making Imperial's executive education courses available to its members during the fourth quarter of 2022. The in-depth multi-day/week programs are available on campus in London or via live interactive virtual learning.

ISDA will continue to run its own training courses on legal and policy issues. More information on ISDA events is available here.
